Marion Fourth of July Parade

By Joan Hartnett-Barry

The Benjamin D. Cushing, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2425 celebrated their annual Fourth of July Parade on Thursday. The parade had 100 entries including antique cars, tractors, antique trucks, clowns, floats, fire engines and marching bands who organized behind the Town House before proceeding onto Main Street.

The parade went east on Main Street to Spring Street, north to Route 6, west on Route 6 to Front Street, south on Front Street to Main Street and back to the Town House, where prizewinners were announced. The judges' stand was across from the Tabor Fields on Spring Street and judges included Pam Gibbs, Maureen Kimbal and Tom Gibbs.

"We had everything today ... a bagpiper, tractors, great music, you name it," said Rodney Hunt, Parade Chairman. "The weather was hot, but people stayed in the shade and everything went smoothly."

The Best in Parade went to Joe Guard, of Fairhaven, who entered a restored train that used to be part of Buttonwood Park in New Bedford. The train ran on a track at the park from 1952 to 1958. The train pulled two 1956 restored bumper cars and two 1956 restored Tilt-O-Whirl carriages. Guard received a $100 check for his

Guard, wearing a train engineer's hat, promptly called out to Jody Dickerson, head of the Marion Recreation Department, and asked him to come forward. Guard gave Dickerson the check and shook his hand. "I want to donate this to the department," said Guard.

"Thank you so very, very much," said Dickerson. Guard has two sons who live in Marion and had young family members riding in the cars. Guard also won a trophy for Most Original.

Winners included:

Best in Parade: Joe Guard with his Train, bumper cars and Tilt-O-Wheel cars

Most Original: First Place: Joe Guard with his Train, bumper cars and Tilt-O-Wheel cars; Second Place: Yankee Clipper with Al Hamer; Third Place: John Gibbons

Marching Band: First Place: Portuguese American Band directed by Dan Ferreira; Second Place: Marion Marching Band; Third Place: The Relics, a local band

Color Guard: First Place: Marion Police Color Guard; Second Place: Marion Boy Scout Troop 32; Third Place: Marion Girl Scouts

Commercial: First Place: Countryside Child Care Center; Second Place: Alex Race; Third Place: Papa's Fuels; Fourth Place: Papa's Lawn Care

Tractors: First Place: Cam Bacchiocchi; Second Place: David Rawcliffe; Third Place: Kala Souza; Fourth Place: James Gonneville

Antique Vehicles: First Place: Steve Cook; Second Place: Matt Nowick; Third Place: Ray Pittsley; Fourth Place: Dave Kinney

On the cover: There was a lot to do in the Tri-Town over the weekend, including parades, a horse show, a road race, and of course the return of the Marion Fireworks. These Mermaids and Poseidon made an appearance on a float in the Marion Fourth of July Parade, filling the streets with music and bubbles! Take Your Pick of Weekend Plans

By Shawn Badgley

Tri-Town residents who have rested after a busy Fourth of July weekend will be well positioned to enjoy an even busier schedule in the coming days.

The fun begins on Friday morning with Gardens
by the Sea, a tour of Marion's many gorgeous gardens.
The event, running from 10:30 am to 4:30 pm, includes lunch. Tickets are available at the Bookstall, the Marion General Store, and St. Gabriel's Episcopal Church. For more information, call 508-748-1507. If you can't make it, look for coverage at www.wanderer.com over the weekend.

Friday also finds this summer's first performance in the Marion Concert Band's series, and this one should please fans of all ages: the program will feature movie and TV theme songs. The concert will be held at the Robert Broomhead Bandstand, Island Wharf, off of Front

But those will serve as merely the opening strains in a veritable symphony of weekend music. Saturday's installment of the 17th Annual Buzzards Bay Musicfest features a chamber music performance at 8:00 pm at the Fireman Performing Arts Center at Tabor Academy (there are shows on Thursday, Friday and Sunday, as well), while the Marion Police Brotherhood Concert will showcase a Billy Joel tribute band at Silvershell Beach at 7:00 pm.

Earlier that day, the 20th Annual Buzzards Bay Swim starts at 9:00 am in New Bedford. For more information, visit www.savebuzzardsbay.org/swim#sthash.tMOmq5My.dpuf. If you'd rather do some yoga, try Brainard Marsh off of Delano Road in Marion at 9:00 am for the Sunrise Yoga Series with Angela Curry. If you're hungry after all of that exercise – or after just thinking about all of that exercise – head over to Shipyard Park at 5:00 pm for the Florence Eastman Post 280 American Legion Clam Boil, where $25 gets you special chowder, two pounds of clams, stuffing, sweet corn, onion, potato, sausage and linguica.

That's the kind of meal that can power you up for a triathlon the next day, which is why the Mattapoissett Lions Club must have scheduled one for Sunday morning, 8:00 am at the Town Beach. For more information, see <https://g2racereg.webconnex.com/lionstri2013>.

Close out a crazy weekend with the Women Center's Third Annual Men Who Cook Summer Sizzler, 5:30 to 7:30 pm at Shipyard Park. The menu includes chowder, mushroom caps, mussels marinara, pan-seared scallops, pulled pork, Mexican paella, jambalaya, BBQ ribs, buffalo chicken mozambique, beef carpaccio crostini, Asian chicken, four-cheese pasta bake, and more ... plus baklava, cupcakes and assorted desserts by Russell Morin's Fine Catering. Purchase and print tickets online on the events page at www.thewomenscentersc.com. Tickets will also be available at the door. All proceeds benefit The Women's Center. For more information, call Rebecca McCullough at 508-758-1326.

the revolution and evolution of preparing food. Twenty-four hours a day, you can tune in and find someone cooking something that sets the bar higher and higher. Demi-glazes, sautés, pan roasting, crapes, crème fresh, sushi – food as entertainment has arrived.

Being a kid who grew up in the 1950s, my mother's repertoire consisted of certain meals produced with mechanical procession (versus passion) on specified nights. For instance, you were always guaranteed hot dogs and canned baked beans on Saturday night and a roast of some sort on Sunday with mashed potatoes (sans oven-roasted garlic) and corn-starched gravy. Scrambled eggs with Brown-N-Serve sausages occasionally made a midweek appearance at suppertime. In the summer, she had access to fresh fruits and vegetables, such as succulent beefsteak tomatoes – the kind you will not find in the supermarket today. She'd serve BLT sandwiches on Wonder Bread. The smell of those fleshy tomatoes, hot bacon and yeasty white bread slices makes my mouth water now.

But mostly we enjoyed every type of convenience food that was invented during the decade between 1950 and 1960. There was Chef-Boyardee canned spaghetti – no one called spaghetti "pasta" in my neighborhood – and Swanson frozen TV dinners (yes, eaten in front of the black and white TV). Betty Crocker came out with a line of instant cake mixes, although the frosting Ma would make from scratch. There was even some sort of Salisbury steak that came in a can with gravy. We couldn't help salivating as the smell wafted through her tiny kitchen. We ate everything she put in front of us, including the liver and onions, considering ourselves lucky because children in China were starving. Our palettes were not discerning in the least. This is what we knew and we enjoyed it.

It wasn't until much later when I was exposed to foods gracing tables in other homes and places that I realized there was a wider world of edibles than what my mother was able to produce. I'm not knocking her, I'm just saying.

My first set of in-laws introduced me to jagacida (Cape Verdean rice and beans), milk cracker stuffing, and pies with homemade crust (not Table Talk). I never mastered gufong (a type of fried dough) or munchupa (a stew made with hominy), but I look forward to one day doing just that. There must be an octogenarian Cape Verdean who is still cooking and remembers these old-time favorites. If you are out there, please let me know. My son and granddaughter would be eternally grateful.

During the time I lived in Italy, one family in my apartment building took pity on this then very naïve young American and invited me to their table regularly. I watched as the matriarch of the family rolled out dough for homemade tortellini or grilled thin marinated steaks over a tiny charcoal contraption on a post-stamp sized balcony. When I lived in California, I learned about "real" Mexican food from a wonderful Mexican family. Their use of the peanut and pinto bean was simply amazing. These exceptional people helped me understand that food was much more than just something you had to eat – it could be an event, experience, art form, a gift.

A friend of mine is of German Jewish heritage. His memory of growing up in a multi-generational home in NYC brings to mind the warm fragrances of stews and casseroles, and I'm not talking about Dinty Moore, my friends. He shares that during the 1940s, the war years, rationing was a daily reality. Along with that was the imperative of not wasting anything that might be of use. Even rendered animal fats were collected for the war effort. Surrounded by parents and grandparents, he learned very early on the importance of frugality. His mother and grandmothers were able to create hearty delicious meals often featuring potatoes and meat scraps. Coming home after school to smells of slow cookery, especially in the winter months, is a fond memory of great food and love for him.

Homemade doughnuts, cakes and French meat pies populate my husband's memory food bank. His mother, Anna Belanger Coderre, was a consummate cook, nay, chef, by today's standards. He recalls sitting on her kitchen counter waiting for the first batch of doughnuts to come out of the fat, and because he was the spoiled youngest child, being served first as his siblings waited. No wonder his older brother threw his beloved toy rabbit in the trash. Holidays in his household brought out every table and chair available, along with relatives to fill them. The double parlor of their family tenement building rang with good cheer and the aroma from tables filled to capacity with seasonal treats.

My dear Italian pal, Joe Colangelo, also grew up surrounded by generations of fine cooks. His childhood is the material of movies. Think the meal scenes from The Godfather series minus the bloodshed. From his rich treasure trove of remembrances, he shared the following:

"The kitchen was the epicenter of the Italian family in the '50s. It provided the forum for the exchange of the day's events, the expression of feelings, hopes, dreams and desires. Its agrarian roots fostered the dietary habits, which became its hallmark. Numerous dishes utilizing the many organs and body parts of various livestock remain today as testament to the economic realities of farm life in an era gone by for most. The anticipation of the seasonal dishes rooted in tradition still exists today. The spring lamb which adorns the Easter table, the vast preponderance of fresh vegetables especially home grown, the celebration of the pig in the fall heralded homemade sausages, various roast preparations, and for the true die-hards, home-cured products. And then there was the culmination of the calendar year with the ultimate seafood tribute, 'The Seven Fishes.'" opportunity to expand our food knowledge and desire to try new things. Year round, globally sourced fresh fruits and vegetables, fish whose names we never before heard, and multicultural integration on the grocery store shelves has combined in the mixing bowls of our imagination where chicken fingers once may have reigned supreme. Yet still, we needed to be freed from our traditional apron strings.

Julia Child helped make it happen. Her singular passion for understanding and teaching French cooking combined with her ability to connect with the American cook gave her wide appeal. She was then and now an institution in the world of food. We watched as she talked to us about preparing food step-by-step, albeit sometimes awkwardly. It made her all the more "real" to us when things didn't go so well. When my son was a baby, his father would rock him in his little rocking chair with his foot doing the work while he watched with rapt attention to Julia de-boning a chicken, unsuccessfully flipping an omelet, or sloshing egg whites onto the counter. When Julia's show came on, the nation tuned in and turned away from processed food.

"The French Chef" was the genesis for all who came later. Jacques Pepin, Joyce Chen, The Galloping Gourmet, The Frugal Gourmet, The Cajun Chef, Paul Prudhomme, and others too numerous to list, all became household names thanks to Julia Child.

My cooking is far from that which my mother was able to accomplish. My interest is trying new techniques, and sourcing ingredients isn't something that would have intrigued her. But, then again, she didn't have Julia to free her from the humdrum of Birdseye frozen vegetables.

Food – its taste and smell – can stay with us for decades. My mother's kitchen in the late afternoon was warm and the ambient air was filled with the delicious smells of something being prepared for supper. Meager though it might have been, the memory is lush.

Julia wrote in remembering the first meal she ever ate in France that "in all the years since that succulent meal, I have yet to lose the feelings of wonder and excitement that it inspired in me. I can almost taste it

TICK SEASON

Both my cat and dog are coming into the house with lots of ticks. I thought that the ticks would disappear now that fall is here.

Unfortunately, ticks like cool weather. Tick season peaks in spring and fall however some ticks can be found in summer and in the winter if the temperature is mild.

So what can I do to protect my pet from all of these ticks?

The three main products available that are effective against ticks are Frontline for use on dogs and cats and Preventic collars and Advantix for dogs only, all are available through your veterinarian.

What diseases can these ticks transmit?

Dogs are susceptible to Lyme Disease and Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever while cats may develop Hemobartinnella or feline infectious anemia.

Party Atmosphere at Mattapoisett Road Race By Marilou Newell

With a joyous vibe filtering through the huge crowd at Shipyard Park, people came together for the 2013 Mattapoisett Road Race. They came from places near and far to be together, to say they accomplished something, to laugh, to remember – to run. The Mattapoisett July 4 Road Race has become an event many look forward to each year. And there are just as many reasons why people want to be in the race as there are people attempting to finish it.

This annual summertime happening had 1,152 registered runners. The race was opened with the singing of the National Anthem by an outstanding barbershop quartet from New Bedford. Then, with the race's Founding Father, Robert Gardner, sitting in a tricked-out golf cart at the lead, the gun sounded and the cheering reached the heavens above as the racers advanced like one giant moving mass of humanity.

Families ran together like the Hughes family of Rochester, mother and two daughters, the Folly family of Mattapoisett, parents and two daughters, and cousins Shawn Arruda and Jerome Agaran.

Agaran just completed two tours of duty in Afghanistan. At 27 years old, he is very happy to be home and to be able to run on two good legs close to both home and loved ones. His cousin Arruda, age 16, was so glad to have his cousin home that he decided to run with him even though it was only the second such road race he'd ever participated in. They wore deep red t-shirts emblazoned with the word "freedom" across the chest.

Bill Folly and his family have run the race for the last eight years. These four are very proud Americans with Dad carrying a full-size wooden pole American flag the entire length of the course, unfurling it as he crossed the finish line. When I asked him why, he humbly said, "It seems like the right thing to do on the 4th of July." Indeed, Mr. Folly, indeed.

The females of the Hughes family of Rochester are the runners. Meg, Kate and Mom are veterans of road races and Meg is the same age as her number, 11. The two sisters handily completed the race, but Mom had a harder time. She reached the finish line with her daughters' delighted faces waiting for her.

Diane Lee, age 59, got a surprise when her father, Bill, signed her up for the race. He knew she'd be visiting him in Fairhaven over the holiday and that with her love of running races back home in California, she'd be game for this little village event. She obliged her 85-year-old dad. I watched him wait with anxious anticipation, with pains in his legs, for his daughter to come on home to him this way.

Steve Bonney, of Mattapoisett, took a little longer than some to come across the finish line, but he did so in about 2.5 hours in his wheelchair. His wife walked the course with him and her pride in his accomplishment was as brilliant as the smile that graced her lips when she said, "He started at 7:37 this morning."

across the finish line slick with sweat and squealing with joy. His elation for completing the course on roads he knows so well was a delight many echoed if not so visibly or audibly.

First-time entrants Carola Harden, of New Bedford, and her friend, Shawna Pires, of Fall River, were as beautiful as any Olympic track and field athlete as they came down the Water Street towards the finish line. Their combination of running and walking was the strategy they employed to finish the race as the sun grew in strength and the humidity began to reach its zenith – a perfectly hot July 4 day.

Runner Julia Bendeth-Lomberto, of Franklin, was running pushing her baby's carriage containing little

GENERAL AND COSMETIC DENTISTRY

Albie. Albie's start in life has been difficult causing the family to stand by as he went through numerous medical treatments for a congenital heart condition. Mom often runs road races to raise money and awareness for such medical conditions. At the end of the race, Albie was allowed to walk across the finish line powered by his own two little legs. Miracles do happen.

The first runner across the finish line was #245, worn by Jason Eddy, a 1998 graduate from ORR whose time of 27:10 pleased him greatly. There was no one else in sight with the next runner, #5, more than a full minute behind him.

But it was the one-hour mark that saw the bulk of the runners pouring down the street towards that wonderful sign – FINISH. At the beginning of the race, all of the runners looked fresh and raring to go, while at the one-hour mark, most were glad it was over but all were happy to have "been there done that."

Race Mayor, Mattapoisett's own Danny White, #801, wasn't sure if he would run the race this year, although he had been contemplating doing so for some months prior to committing. He came in with others around the one-hour mark: a noble showing for a reluctant runner.

The Mattapoisett Road Race is a time for some to prove their athletic worth, for others to be with family participating in a fun event, or standing on the sidelines cheering on friends and loved ones. And for still others,

Newly Formed Little League a Success

By Nick Walecka

In any merger, there's an adjustment period when the two sides, generally unfamiliar with each other, are suddenly thrust together and forced to iron out their differences while they build toward the greater good of the now combined entities.

For the pre-existing leagues known as Old Rochester Little League and Rochester Youth Baseball League, this year was that adjustment period, but after one full season together, the newly formed Old Rochester Little League, which now includes players from Rochester, Marion and Mattapoisett, has been a success, and the players are reaping the benefits, both on and off the field.

"It was a little bit of a culture shock when we brought the two groups together – some little bumps along the way, some hiccups here and there – but I think by and large, those are temporary, one-year type of things where people are getting used to the new league structure, and also getting more familiar with where their child would be appropriately placed," Commissioner Peter Johnson said.

Johnson said that the league has about 400 participants from ages 4-12. Players play at multiple complexes across Marion, Mattapoisett and Rochester.

"The idea is to mix all the kids together, and have them play across all three towns," Johnson said. "It's a true Tri-Town experience for the kids."

Not only has the number of players doubled, but they've also been able to fine-tune the age groups to a point where players can be placed within similar age and skill levels, which allows coaches to properly appropriate playing time while also keeping the leagues competitive.

"I think it really worked out well where it allowed finer gradation and the kids play in a peer group – both age and ability – with the idea to provide the best opportunity for the kids," Johnson said. "Nothing's more frustrating then when a kid's not with the appropriate group."

Under the new system, players are divided into 5 different age groups: T-Ball, for 4- and 5-year-olds; Double-A, for 6- and 7-year-olds; Triple-A, for advanced 7- and 8-year-olds, where players start to pitch and hit live pitching; Minor League, for 9- and 10-year-olds with some 11-year-olds mixed in; and Major League, for 11- and 12-year-olds.

This year, champions were crowned in three leagues, with the Braves winning in the Major League Division, the Padres winning the Minor League Division, and the Mud Hens winning the Triple-A Division.

The Old Rochester Little League also sent 10-, 11-, and 12-year-old teams to the District 7 Little League World Series Tournament, and though no team made it onto the next round, they were all very competitive.

"The nice thing, though, when you play in these tournaments, you never know what type of competition you're going to come across," Johnson said. "I would say that each one of our teams competed very well. We're very competitive for the small footprint that we have – we're probably one of the smallest programs in the district."

One team that was very successful was a group of 9-year-old all-stars from the league, who recently won the Sandwich Summer Blast Tournament.

The league will also field teams for the upcoming local all-star circuit.

All in all, the entire merger can be considered a success, especially off the field, with friendships being formed that may not have ever existed without the leagues' unification.

"We didn't play cross-town baseball back [when I was a child]," Johnson said. "There weren't any youth organizations that spanned the Tri-Town area, perhaps with the exception of hockey. These kids are forging these bonds across the Tri-Town area, which really helps as they transition into the Junior High and the Senior High. They walk in, and they already have all these friendships."

Marion Horse Show a Success

By Nick Walecka

Crowds, participants, officials and horses gathered at Washburn Park in Marion on Independence Day for the 66th Marion Horse Show, which showcased several riders and horses from the area as well as from places like Cape Cod, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

This year, there were around 70 entries competing in different events that displayed both the talent of the riders as well as the makeup of the horses themselves. Depending on the event, the duos were judged for everything from the rider's handling of the horse to its posture, build, trot, etc.

One of the highlights of the show was its location. Originally held at Sippican School, it now takes place at Washburn Park, which is a perfect place for spectators to enjoy an afternoon of equestrian. There are several stone walls that surround the horse ring, making it easy to view each of the participants, and there are also a number of trees surrounding it, which provided shade from the hot sun for the many onlookers in attendance.

"This is a jewel of a park," said Dottie Nunes Spooner, who is on the Horse Show Committee. "No matter how hot it is, we always have a breeze. They did a good job of laying this out. The different grades makes it nice for spectators to come and watch."

Spooner and her sister, Debbie Martin, explained that they and a variety of local women grew up at Washburn Park and with the horses, and though the show may not be what it once was, the Committee will continue to assemble and put on the shows.

"Marion has a history of horses," Martin said. "Times have changed – the place used to be packed – but we're happy to keep it going for another year."

The two explained that preparation for the event started in January, and that it took the hard work of numerous volunteers to take place.

Laurie Buler, who is a horse trainer at Harmony Farms in Rochester, had 10 horses/riders in the event.

"It's great," Buler said. "It was a little hectic at first, but it's been a great day."

"It's great, because everyone comes from the parade [in Marion] and they watch the different classes, and then they go to the beach after," said Peter Johnson, whose daughter Sophie competed in the day's events.

Kyah Woodland, 11, of Rochester, competed with her horse Digger. She said that she's competed before, and that she has family ties to the event as well.

"My grandfather is the farrier," she said, and explained that the farrier is responsible for equipping the horses with horseshoes.

Overall, the event seemed to be a success among competitors, officials and spectators alike. Let's hope that the event continues, and with it, the history of horses in the area continues to trot forward.

Arts in the Park in Marion

By Joan Hartnett-Barry

The heat didn't keep the crowds away from the Marion Art Center's Arts in the Park, held at Bicentennial Park on Saturday. Hundreds of people browsed the 44 booths featuring local artists offering jewelry, glass, paintings, textiles, collage, photography, carved and painted wood, ceramics, garden furniture and garden sculpture.

"This is our seventh year doing this," said Deb Bokelkamp, Executive Director of the MAC. The event ran from 10:00 am until 4:00 pm, with plenty of food offerings for hungry patrons. The shade offered by the many booths brought patrons closer to the art works offered for sale.

Artists answered questions about their work and some were creating a new piece while visitors watched.

New this year, the event had a raffle table with one item donated by each artist in the juried show. Tickets were $1 each and people flocked to it hoping for a chance to win one of the beautiful handcrafted items displayed. Former MAC Executive Director Wendy Bidstrup, along with her daughter Laurie Knight, staffed the raffle table, chatting and socializing with friends both old and new. Lunch was available, and many took advantage of the shady area where the food was served.

"It's a beautiful day to take a walk in the park and admire local creativity," said Bryce Bozadjian, who was visiting her grandmother in Marion for the holiday. Bozadjian volunteered to staff the lunch table with her cousins. "This is fun."

Mattapoisett Selects New Harbormaster

By Anne Smith

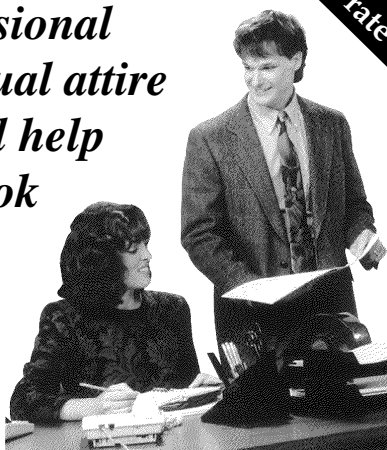

The Mattapoisett Board of Selectmen interviewed the third and final candidate for the full-time Harbormaster position on Tuesday night immediately prior to their regular meeting at 7:00 pm. Since posting the position in early May, 11 highly qualified individuals applied. The Mattapoisett Marine Advisory Board sorted through the résumés and presented the top three to the Selectmen; of the three, one had withdrawn and one had previously interviewed for the position.

During her interview, candidate Jill Simmons explained her work history with the New Bedford Police Department and her role in the city's harbor as waterfront security and the de facto harbormaster. She expects to retire from these duties by the end of August.

Selectman Paul Silva said that the Selectmen had previously spoken to Simmons about her credentials, and that the purpose of the night's interview was to converse about Mattapoisett Harbor.

"Unfortunately, truthfully, I'm not all that familiar," Simmons admitted, though she has toured the harbor and participated in training exercises under the piers. "I don't know how the mooring fields are set up; I took a quick look."

Harbormaster Horace Field verified Simmons' working knowledge of the recent re-gridding of the mooring fields, which Field intends to finish prior to stepping down from the position.

"Pretty much, the harbor is where we'd like it to be," Field told Simmons. "It's all gridded." He added that the only task left is listening to boat-owners who like to comment when they've noticed that their boat has been moved to its new spot on the grid.

When asked how she would contribute to the Mattapoisett waterfront as the harbormaster, Simmons replied, "Law enforcement is my thing. You look at registrations. You've got excise taxes. I can sit there with

For Simmons, part of running a harbor is being active on the water.

"You need to have somebody out there," she said.

One of the problems that Simmons would like to address is speed infractions, typically associated with jet skis.

"I'm not anti-jet ski," Simmons said. "I'm just anti-nitwit jet ski. They don't have the right to go through a mooring field at 120 miles per hour. I've got no problem writing those citations."

Simmons mentioned that citations are a financial resource for the town, especially if the citations are filed through the Massachusetts Environmental Police,

Another area Simmons would like to explore is the appropriation of a larger, and therefore more useful, vessel for the Shellfish Warden. Currently, the Shellfish Warden has a 14-foot aluminum vessel that isn't conducive to patrol. The Selectmen voiced the possibility of using grants to purchase a Boston Whaler.

Simmons concluded her interview by stressing the number of qualifications she has earned during her 40-plus years on the New Bedford Police Department, namely her ability to work at any time on the clock.

"I don't mind working all night," Simmons said. "I'll come in early."

In their meeting that followed the interview, the Selectmen unanimously agreed to authorize Town Administrator Michael Gagne to contact Simmons about completing the paperwork that would institute her as Mattapoissett's next Harbormaster.

"If she says 'No,' I will be very disappointed," Selectman Jordan Collyer said. "I've known her for a long time. She's well-respected in her field."

Silva's praise for Simmons was effusive.

"I, without question, believe that Jill has more qualifications and experience," Silva said. "She is extremely well-qualified. There is an additional page, single-spaced, of additional trainings she's done over the years [in her résumé]."

Selectman R. Tyler Macallister suggested that the

– at their regular meeting on Tuesday night.

The issue arose because of recent media coverage in The Wanderer, with which the three Selectmen and several attendant town residents agree. Prior to the meeting, Town Administrator Michael Gagne visited the park at Ned's Point Lighthouse, where he discovered "dog remains – that were going to be stepped on by somebody" in spite of the eight highly-visible signs which declare dogs prohibited from the green.

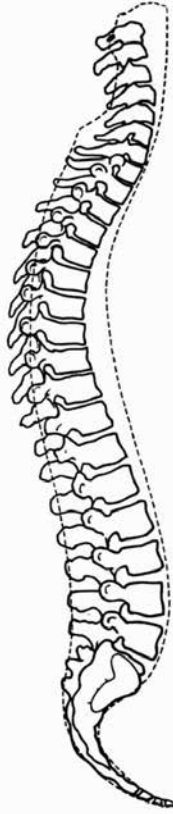

"Down at Ned's Point are probably the most active strips of grass," Gagne said, also listing Shipyard Park, Goodspeed Island and virtually all of the beaches in town. One resident in attendance said that Brandt Island experiences a number of beach violations by dog owners, as well.

"Generally, our policy is that we warn people," Gagne said, suggesting that this policy might not be enough of a deterrent. "I think that we need to move to the next level, which is we give citations."

Selectman Paul Silva firmly agreed with the suggestion that the town Natural Resources Officer and her team of assistants become more aggressive with delinquent dog owners.

"If [the owners] don't care, we shouldn't care," Silva said. "We should give them the citation."

Because many of the dog owners who do not pick up after their pets usually walk the streets before the Natural Resources Officer is on duty, Silva suggested that the Board adjust her hours on a rotating basis to catch dog owners unaware.

Selectman Jordan Collyer, also in agreement with the Board's decision to issue more citations to dog owners who are not following the town bylaws, noted the town's lack of a dog park or beach.

"I can't believe we don't have a dog park in this town," he said. "It just baffles my mind."

Ray Andrews, a town resident, discussed the history of the beach at Goodspeed Island. At one town meeting, a vote successfully made the beach open to dogs provided that their owners picked up after them; the vote was never recorded in the meeting minutes.

The Selectmen discussed the possibility of using some of the town's conservation land in locations where there is no risk of impacting the harbor as a dog park in the future, but it was not an action item.

The status of the road improvements was another important topic of discussion at the Selectmen's meeting. The section of Church Street between Route 6 and North Street is ready to be paved. Highway Surveyor Barry Denham speculated a construction date sometime for late August or early September.

"I'm sure there will be plenty of residents who will be happy to drive up Church Street without banging the bottoms of their cars," Denham said.

Denham also discussed potential road improvements for Acushnet Road, for which he has appropriated $10,000. Denham required the Selectmen to discuss inconsistencies in the public record regarding one stretch of Acushnet Road, where two plans cite different town and residential property lines. Depending on how the Selectmen, along with Town Counsel, choose to rectify the error – either by selecting one plan as the record or creating a composite plan from the information on the record for each of the properties in that particular stretch – the width of the road will vary. In turn, this will influence the kind of work that Denham will be able to accomplish at that site.

"I'd like to have a shoulder there so that if someone did skid off the road, they'd have something level to land on rather than go into a cranberry bog," Denham said. "If we don't own the property, it's impossible to widen it." He added that depending on the plan the town decides to use, the road layout ranges from 32 to 40 feet in width.

The Selectmen will continue to converse with Denham and Town Counsel regarding the incongruity.

The Board also discussed the Conservation Commission's recent decision to apply for Land Grants for acreage surrounding Nasketucket and the Mattapoisett River Valley.

"[This is] the largest coastal land conservation project currently being advanced in Massachusetts," Gagne read from the grant applications.

The 77 acres that are a component of a larger plan to preserve 400 acres around Nasketucket are categorized as core habitat. Because the Selectmen knew little about these parcels, including their current real estate appraisal, they could not authorize Gagne to sign the application on behalf of the town. However, the Selectmen said that they only want more information so that they can make an educated decision.

The Selectmen unanimously voted to authorize Gagne to sign the application on behalf of the town regarding the Land Grant for acreage in the Mattapoisett River Valley. These parcels were approved to move on to Town Meeting.

In other action items, the Board:

Signed and approved Treasurer's bonds as submitted, which allow the road improvements to continue as scheduled.

Accepted the resignation of Judith Mooney as a member of the Finance Committee, and presented her with a Certificate of Appreciation. Gagne said of Mooney, "Mattapoisett is extremely lucky to have someone with her level of education and experience. I'm probably going to be begging her to return once her children grow up because she's great to work with."

Appointed Kevin Geraghty and Paul Amoroso to the Finance Committee.

Approved a two-week trailer permit to William and Helen Hoyer for property located at the corner of Silver Shell Avenue and Waterman Street. The Selectmen also voted to remind the applicants that they must submit their application timelier next year, since the Selectmen meet more infrequently during the summer.

Approved a common victuallers license to "Men Who Cook" for Sunday, July 14 at Shipyard Park under the big tent.

Issued Certificates of Appreciation to: Kate

Souza, Town Beach Supervisor; Bert and Betty Theriault, Coast Guard Auxiliary Lighthouse Tours; Randall Kunz, SRPEDD.

Melody Pacheco, Assistant to the Town Administrator, reminds the public that there is a vacancy on the Mattapoisett Conservation Commission. Interested residents may contact the Town Hall for more information.

The Mattapoisett Board of Selectmen will meet next on August 13 at 7:00 pm

Abatements, Appointments and Repairs

Marion Board of Selectmen

By Shawn Badgley

Water abatement discussion dominated Tuesday night's Marion Board of Selectmen meeting, with one resident's property taking center stage.

Jeff Paula, of 471 Point Road, told the Selectmen that he is being billed for water that he's not consuming, as he has a private well. Paula was unaware that there is a meter on his property that connects his home to the water main running under Point Road.

"There is service and a meter," Town Administrator Paul Dawson. "We can tell from the meter that there has been no consumption, but you do have basic service, which is what you're being charged for."

Paula challenged the notion.

"What basic service am I getting if I don't use the water?" he asked. "I think it's heavy-handed to say that just because I'm a resident with a pipe passing by that I have to write a check. I think it's a little unfair."

Selectman Steve Cushing, acting as Chairman with Jody Dickerson absent, told Paula that the charges are to maintain service to the house, and that it preceded Paula's purchase of the land. He also said that the Board of Health will have to approve Paula's well to make sure it provides potable water and doesn't jeopardize public health.

"Their jurisdiction supersedes ours," Cushing said.

The Selectmen said that Paula would have to consult the Board of Health and then revisit the possibility of shutting off water service to the property.

The Board denied abatement requests at 47 Main Street and 94 Quails Crossing Road.

Elsewhere on the agenda, the Selectmen voted to advertise the newly created position of Facilities Manager, which was recently approved at Town Meeting. However, they tabled approval of the job description until Dickerson's return.

In addition, they signed off on multiple appointments to the Cultural Council, the Bike Path Committee, the Energy Management Committee and the Council on Aging, while tabling appointments to the Music Hall Committee, which has three candidates for two spots.

Dawson told the Board that repairs at the Natural History Museum are progressing.

"I'm happy to report that they continue to go along well," he said. "The framing and insulation are complete. They've done a nice job. We're just waiting on the plastering subcontractors."

Dawson also reported that Arne Excavating and Tree Service of Marion provided the winning bid of just over $47,000 for a bog restoration and dike repair project, while informing the Board that all necessary paperwork for statewide grant funding sources of Phases 1A and 1B of the Capital Improvement Plan – approved at Town Meeting in May after much discussion – is in place.

Officials Talk Medical Marijuana

Rochester Planning Board

By Nick Walecka

The Rochester Planning Board met Tuesday evening for a brief meeting to discuss a handful of issues, including a future amendment to zoning bylaws for medicinal marijuana facilities within the town.

The amendment, which will be introduced at this fall's Town Meeting, will be for new businesses involved with medicinal marijuana.

Town Planner John Charbonneau said that all dimensional requirements for industrial districts apply, and that businesses cannot be within 1,000 feet of schools or churches. The guidelines will be similar to the "adult

MARION FAMILY CHIROPRACTIC

WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO BE A FAMILY CHIROPRACTIC PRACTICE?

At Marion Family Chiropractic, you will notice something different. Children are playing in the reception room, mothers of twins are sharing strategies for raising their children, and grandfathers are telling stories. All of them are there to have their spines checked for alignment – so they will grow, live, and age their best.

A family chiropractic practice is about a pregnant woman who's been told her back pain is "a normal part of pregnancy" – but now, a few weeks into her chiropractic care - her pain is gone. It means that after her baby is born, his spine will be checked for proper alignment. Later this afternoon, her husband will come in to have a chiropractic adjustment that helps clear his sinus problems and headaches.

It is about a young woman who has been a chiropractic patient for years, bringing in her 87-year-old grandmother. She had six years of acute back pain that she was told she would have to "just live with" because of her age. After one visit her pain is almost gone. She has been telling her friends that they should try chiropractic care also - pain does not have to be a part of aging.

It is about local athletes of all ages not only recovering from injuries more quickly, but performing at a higher level because of the increased flexibility, power, and coordination that they get when their bodies are in proper alignment.

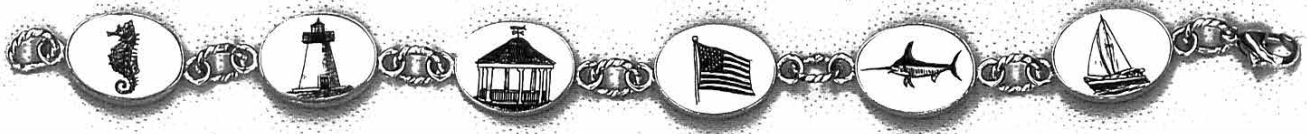

It is about families with three – and sometimes four – generations under chiropractic care. For example, infants who were helped with colic, toddlers with ear infections, grade-schoolers with asthma and allergies, teens with migraines, fathers with back pain, mothers with carpal tunnel syndrome, grandfathers with sciatica, and grandmothers with fibromyalgia.

A family chiropractic practice means that these families will tell you that they cannot imagine raising children or going through life without chiropractic care – it is what helps to keep them healthy and living life to its fullest.

uses" guidelines for things such as a liquor stores or pharmacies.

The Planning Board also expressed lack of interest in purchasing property off of High Street, which is currently owned by Scott and Felicia Morse. The town has first refusal on the property because it falls under the "open space" designation 61-B.

Lastly, the Board discussed an issue where officials previously voiced concern over the delay of the installation of a berm at the Little Quittacas Solar site, but they noted that the berm has since been constructed and reseeded.

Open Space and Land Grants on Agenda

Mattapoisett Conservation Commission

by Marilou Newell

The Buzzards Bay Coalition has accumulated close to $4.5 million from various funding sources to assist in the acquisition of land known as Nasketucket, 400 acres of farm fields and woodlands, and Mattapoisett River Valley, which is just over 200 acres, reported Brendan Annette of the Coalition. Annette was before the Mattapoisett Conservation Commission to have them sign new applications and to request signed letters that are required by state mandate. The Coalition has been working for over 10 years to secure some of these parcels and continues in its tireless efforts to protect land from development and give it to the towns for open space, conserved lands and recreational activities for the public. From the Coalition's Facebook page, we find details on this land and why it is critical to the town:

"Spanning the towns of Fairhaven and Mattapoisett, Nasketucket Bay contains some of Buzzards Bay's healthiest water and extensive wildlife habitat. To protect Nasketucket Bay's health, the Buzzards Bay Coalition is working to conserve nearly 400 acres of land vulnerable to development.

"Specifically, the land conservation project will: protect 197 acres of forests, coastal wetlands and waterfront, opening these areas to the public for outdoor recreation; prevent development of 201 acres of active

Have you been involved in an accident?

Is your insurance company trying to steer you to a repair shop you don't know?

You have the right in Massachusetts to go to any licensed and bonded auto body repair shop of your choice. Collision Services of Marion, Inc. is licensed and bonded. We work with all insurance companies, for the hourly rate they pay.

Are they intimidating you, telling you they will not guarantee the repairs unless you go to one of their referral shops?

Collision Services of Marion, Inc. guarantees all repairs. Referral shops repair cars for the insurance. We repair the car for you.

So, tell your insurance company no thank you, I'm going to go to Collision Services of Marion, Inc. There are insurance companies in Massachusetts that feel they are the biggest lion in the jungle. If you feel that you are being intimidated by the insurance company, or that the referral body shop did inferior work, stop by Collision Services of Marion and ask for the LION HUNTER!

in doing so. However, undeterred by funding shortfalls ($2.5 million still needs to be sourced) and volumes of paperwork, Annette said he was submitting new applications. Commissioners agreed to sign all necessary forms and draft the letters required by the state for the application process to continue.

Conservation Agent Elizabeth Leidhold reminded the public that the open space questionnaire is still available on the town's website and will remain posted for public comment until the end of July. She urged the public to use this forum to give voice to their desires about the future of Mattapoisett's open spaces.

These projects tie into a much larger overall assessment of land use in Mattapoisett and the future complexion of the community into perpetuity.

In other business:

A request for determination of applicability by Ron & Danielle Bick, 37 Silver Shell Avenue, to build a 10-by-14-foot shed received permission to move forward with no conservation issues raised.

Bob Field from Field Engineering came before the Conservation with a request for determination of applicability for Cindy Penberton, 7 Pine Island Road, to clear vegetation within the 100-foot buffer zone to create a yard area for a single family dwelling. It was noted by Field that the existing structure on the property is slated to be demolished on Wednesday, which neighbors applauded as an improvement to an eyesore they have lived with for over 10 years. Standard conditions were imposed on the clearing and approval was granted.

Also receiving approval – some with necessary conditions and some without – were Robert and Cathleen Wheeler, 13 North Road, to erect a prefab 4-by-8-foot shed adjacent to the house; Philip Spillane, 9 Oliver Street, for a 14-by-26-foot addition built on sono-tube footings; and James Neeley, 0 Rock Street, to construct a single family dwelling.

Lastly, a request for a certificate of compliance by Alan Ewing Engineering, for 8 Creek Street, was approved.

Chairman Peter Newton accepted a letter of resignation letter from Ken Dawicki citing a conflict in scheduling. This departure leaves a vacancy on the Conservation Commission. This vacancy will be taken up by the Selectmen in the coming weeks. Newton told the public that anyone interested in assisting the town by being considered for the open slot should send a letter to Town Administrator Michael Gagne.

After approving the minutes from the previous meeting, the evening's meeting ended with beautiful summer breezes freshening the humid air.

"Wanderer Keel Awards." The yearly community service honor – which is presented to one resident from each of the three central towns in our circulation area – will be announced in our July 25 issue, and each winner will be the subject of a short feature highlighting their contributions to the local community. But The Wanderer needs your help in selecting these "unsung heroes."

The requirements are simple. Nominees must be legal residents, for at least five years, of Mattapoisett, Marion or Rochester and must have contributed in some way to the overall benefit of the community – either directly to town residents, or indirectly through efforts in promoting town activities, or working to keep the wheels of local government well oiled. The only restriction is that these persons cannot benefit from their efforts in any other way – either financially or politically (hence, sitting elected officials are not eligible).

In doing this, we hope to applaud those who are rarely recognized for their countless hours of service and focus on the many people "behind the scenes" who remain otherwise anonymous but provide crucial support to many town functions. Like the keel of a ship, which keeps the vessel from capsizing, the recipients of the Annual Wanderer Keel Award will be recognized for their stalwart efforts in keeping the community on an "even keel."

Past recipients of this honor have included:

- MATTAPOISETT – Maurice "Mudgie"

New Audio Service for ORCTV

ORCTV is pleased to announce that it is now offering a new audio service to enhance the lives of the visually impaired in Marion and Rochester. Audible Local Ledger, an affiliate of the Massachusetts Radio Reading Service, turns print into sound to benefit the approximately 7,700 blind or visually impaired people in the Southeastern Massachusetts listening area. This free service is now streaming on the local government channels in Marion and Rochester between regular programs and features a combination of network and local programming. Listeners can hear volunteers read from the Standard Times, the Cape Cod Times, The Boston Globe plus a variety of magazines such as Sports Illustrated, National Geographic and Reader's Digest.

"I am thrilled that ORCTV has added us to their schedule," said Audible Local Ledger's Executive Director Sherry Bergeron. "For those people who are visually impaired and can't keep up with the news, this will help them immensely." For more information and a listening schedule, visit www.audiblelocalledger.org.

Verizon customers can hear the service on Ch. 39 in Marion or Ch. 40 in Rochester. Comcast customers can tune in on Ch. 95.

Its purpose is to conserve land, protect habitat and offer public access to the beautiful, protected lands of our town. Currently, our main focus is improving our events and educational outreach programs for nature lovers of all ages!

Please do not hesitate to contact Executive Director Robin Shields at 508-748-3080 or robinshields@sippicanlandstrust.org.

Sunrise Yoga Series: This series will focus on health and nature and will be held on the Brainard Marsh property. This is a scenic waterfront property that will provide a tranquil background for the yoga experience.

Our guest instructor is Angela Curry. Curry is a certified Kripalu instructor. Kripalu, which means compassion, is a form of yoga that teaches basic yoga postures and introduces the concepts of breath work.

Curry will be leading both of the yoga sessions. She has been studying/teaching yoga for over a decade and teaches regularly at Yoga on Union in New Bedford.

Please join us to experience this beautiful landscape with her expert instruction.

The sessions are scheduled for: July 13 and August 24 at 9:00 am.

Brainard Marsh is located off of Delano Road, Marion. Parking is limited, so please carpool if you can. For added comfort, please bring some water and a mat.

EDITOR'S PICK OF THE WEEK

Shadow House, Part 1

The beautiful colonial house that sits on North Street was oddly called "The Shadows". J. E. Norton Shaw and his wife, Helen Sherman Shaw happily lived in the house since their 1909 marriage. In that time they enjoyed bird watching, plays, traveling and many other activities. But on Thanksgiving weekend, 1926 the house would witness a terrible tragedy and the quiet life they lived would be shattered.

Helen Sherman was born in New Bedford on October 28, 1880 to William Sherman and Rosa Cook. Before marrying, she attended Brown University and graduated in 1902. While at Brown she helped form the Komains, a theater club for women. The only option for women actors at Brown at that time was a sorority that performed Shakespeare plays. The Komains would produce their own plays and the women would play both the female and male parts of the play.

After leaving Brown, Helen Sherman would go on to teach school in places like Quincy, Grafton, and Mattapoisett. It is perhaps during her time teaching in Mattapoisett that she met J. E. Norton Shaw, a lawyer who lived in town.

James Ebenezer Norton Shaw was born in Mattapoisett on February 7, 1876 to Bruce Freeman Shaw and Eliza Angelia Cook. Norton, as he was called, was raised in the town almshouse on Aucott Road, his father being the keeper of the almshouse. Norton attended school in Mattapoisett and prepared for college at Tabor Academy in Marion where he graduated second in his class. At Tabor he was described as being "satisfactory in deportment and morals". Though he failed an earlier attempt at his preliminary exams, his work was faithful and completed out of his sense of duty. His family "stands well" in Mattapoisett and he was influenced to pursue a liberal education. After studying at Tabor he enrolled at Harvard University.

At Harvard, Shaw played football making the varsity team his freshman year. He was described as a tower of strength playing right guard, weighing in at 210 lbs. at 5'11". He was well liked at Harvard, involved in several student organizations and was chosen a member of the class committee. One teammate later said of him he was "a splendid fellow in every way".

After graduating from the college in 1898, Shaw went on to the Harvard Law School where he earned a law degree in 1901. From there he opened up a practice in New Bedford and had an office located at the Masonic Building. About eight months before marrying Helen, Shaw purchased "The Shadows" from his father.

The Shaw's lived a quite life and had no children. While they lived at the Shadows, Mr. Shaw would "motor to and from" his office seven miles away. They spent their leisure time studying birds and reporting their findings to groups and publications dedicated to protecting birds such as Bird-Lore. They also took part in yacht racing, farming and "motor cruising" throughout New England. They traveled to Maine and Canada for canoeing trips and to explore forests. Helen particularly enjoyed watching sports including boxing matches in New Bedford. A woman at a boxing match drew much notice in those days but she apparently didn't mind.

Mr. Shaw was also very much engaged in his work as an attorney in general practice at the Masonic Building in New Bedford.

In 1926, he was appointed co-executor of the will of George Russell of Acushnet. Russell had bequeathed a large portion of his estate to Acushnet worth around $140,000. The money was to fund a new library, upkeep of the town's cemeteries and for other projects.

Russell, a Mayflower descent, taught school in Acushnet, Fairhaven and New Bedford for 22 years. He was once noted by the town of Acushnet for his success as a teacher due to his qualities of "firmness, patience and self possession". After teaching, Russell went in to the banking business. In 1880, he married a woman named Abbie Pilling but by 1900 they had divorced having had no children.

Editors note: This story has been serialized into two parts. Part 2 will be published in our July 18 edition.

Howl at the Moon: Tom Sieling, widely acclaimed singer and songwriter from Newfield, New York, will perform a free, very participatory family program called "Howl at the Moon with a Ground-Dweller Tune!" at 6:00 pm on July 22 at the First Congregational Church Fellowship Hall, Constitution Way, Rochester. This show consists of participatory, humorous children's songs that are guaranteed to engage everyone. Tom accompanies himself on guitar, banjo, harmonica and a drum machine, and all songs include parts for the whole family. Pre-registration is requested. Call the library at 508-763-8600 or email info@plumblibrary.com.

Café Parlez's selection for July is Saturday, by Ian McEwan, chosen by book group member Bev Farwell. February 15, 2003, starts as a regular day for Henry Perowne, a successful neurosurgeon, husband and father of two grown children. A minor traffic accident brings him in contact with Baxter, an angry, aggressive young man on the edge of violence. Later, during a family reunion, Baxter appears at Henry's home, with extraordinary consequences. With McEwan's usual graceful prose and with more drama, this book shows how life can change in

Obituaries:

Carolyn Overmyer, 58, of Mattapoisett passed away on Sunday June 30, 2013 at Sacred Heart Home. She was the wife of David Overmyer; they had been married for 31 years.

Born in Chicago, Illinois, the daughter of the late Paul E. and Mary Alice (Coen) Fair, she had lived in Mattapoisett since 1987.

She was a graduate of the University of Denver.

Carolyn was the owner of the consignment shop Seconds Count for 18 years.

She was very involved in the Mothers of Twins Club when her boys were younger and was a past president of the club. She loved being with her family and being involved in all of their activities. She also loved taking care of stray cats as many in the area found their way to her door over the years.

She is survived by her husband; three children, Peter Overmyer and his wife Lisa of Brooklyn, NY, Michael Overmyer and Maryanne Overmyer, both of Mattapoisett; her siblings, Paul E. Fair, Jr. and his wife Susan of Rochester, NY, Peter Fair of Cary, IL, Pamela Stevens and her husband John Palmer of Oceanside, CA, and Mary Beth Singleton and her husband Jim of Northbrook, IL.

Her Memorial Service was held on Monday July 8, 2013 at the Saunders-Dwyer Mattapoisett Home for Funerals, 50 County Rd., Route 6, Mattapoisett. Her family received visitors prior to the service. In lieu of flowers, remembrances may be made to the Alzheimers Association, 480 Pleasant St., Watertown, MA 02472. For directions and guestbook, please visit www.saundersdwyer.com.

Carolyn Beth Faulkner, 48, of Mattapoisett, passed away Friday May 31, 2013 at The Royal of Fairhaven after an extremely courageous battle with breast cancer. She was the wife of Steven J. Faulkner SR.

Born and raised in Mattapoisett the daughter of the late Fay Knight and Charles Silveira of Mattapoisett where she lived most of her life.

Carolyn graduated from Old Colony Regional Vocational technical high school in 1982. She was the first female student to take a nontraditional shop Carpentry. She was a cheer leader and enjoyed coaching the squad after she graduated. She worked in her trade until she opened her own business Crystal Clean Cleaning service, which she ran for 15 years before getting diagnosed.

Carolyn lived her entire life for her family she enjoyed watching her children play sports and excel in academics. She had a passion for snowmobiling and get-a ways to N.H. where they spent many Christmas's in a cabin in the mountains.

Survivors include her husband; her father; two sons, Steven Faulkner JR. of CA, Dylan Faulkner of Mattapoisett, daughter Katarina Faulkner of Mattapoisett, sister Gayle Lawrence of Rochester, brother Charles Silveira JR of Lakeville.

Services will be private donations can be made to Carolyn's memorial scholarship fund at www.sharecarolynslove.org

The family of Peggy King will hold a memorial gathering to remember her on July 21st at her house, 266 Converse Road, in Marion. Anyone who would like to hear or tell memories of her is welcome to come by between two and five o'clock that day.

Debra Ann (Pavao) McAfee, age 48 years died Wednesday, July 3, 2013 at Tobey Hospital. She was the beloved mother of Heather, Jeremy, Joshua and Hannah McAfee. She was the sister of Kathleen Cabral, Jeffrey Pavao and Lisa Pavao. Debra is also survived by her granddaughter Audrey McAfee and several nieces and nephews.

Mrs. McAfee was a daughter of Janice (Gregory) Pavao of Rochester and Alfonso Pavao.

Mrs. McAfee's memorial services will be scheduled for a later date.

an instant, for better or for worse. We will be discussing this book on July 25 at 6:30 pm. Books are available at the desk, or bring your own copy. Café Parlez is sponsored by the Friends of Plumb Library. We will also be holding the annual Café Parlez Book Swap and Trivia Quiz. Bring a book to share with the group.

Just the Facts, the nonfiction book discussion group, will be reading Don't Let's Go to the Dogs Tonight: An African Childhood, by Alexandra Fuller. Born in England in 1969, she moved with her family in 1972 to a farm in Rhodesia. After that country's civil war in 1981, the Fullers moved first to Malawi then to Zambia. Amid all of the unrest, not just in the country but in her home, Alexandra grew up to be a writer. This is more than a survivor's story. It's the story of one woman's unbreakable bond with a continent and a people. We will be discussing this book on July 18 at 6:30 pm. Copies are available at the desk. At this meeting, we will also be having a book swap. Participants are invited to bring a copy of a book to share with the group.

MOVIE REVIEW

Hi Ho Silver

By Rob Gonsalves

www.robsmovievault.com

The Lone Ranger*. Starring Johnny Depp and Armie Hammer. Directed by Gore Verbinski. Running time: 150 minutes. MPAA rating: PG-13.

Well, it sure was a strange and subversive Fourth of July gift Disney decided to give the country with The Lone Ranger. The movie, which is actually a lot better than most critics would have you believe, inspires feelings ranging from disrespect to downright scorn for the following institutions: the U.S. military, the U.S. government, American capitalism, and the Lone Ranger himself (Armie Hammer), who starts out as a bumbling tenderfoot lawyer named John Reid. At one point, his savior Tonto (Johnny Depp) drags kemosabe through horse manure. That's right, the Lone Ranger gets scat-bombed by noble Silver himself. I can picture, with some glee and schadenfreude, the apoplexy of such cultural guardians as Michael Medved at the notion of the House of Walt exposing millions of American children to such ... such blasphemy!

Perhaps predictably, I had a fine time. The Lone Ranger stays up a bit past its bedtime at two hours and thirty minutes, though such blockbuster bloat is par for the course with director Gore Verbinski, who guided Depp through the first three Pirates of the Caribbean movies (not being a fan, I only saw the first). The film lurches forward with the weight of serious money, much of which is put to good use evoking the American West of 1869 on a scale you're not likely to see again on the big screen any time soon. The budget is also on the screen in a clear-eyed and exhilarating climax involving two trains. Verbinski shoots action cleanly and unabashedly, the way Spielberg in his prime used to, and the way James Cameron still does, on the rare occasions these days that he can be bothered to do so.

There's been some kerfuffle, some of it understandable, at the presumption of Johnny Depp playing Tonto instead of a Native American actor. Depp, who claims (like five out of ten other Americans) Cherokee or Creek ancestry and was last year adopted into the Comanche Nation, has his heart in the right place, I think. If you can find the only film he directed, 1997's The Brave, you will find a man very in tune with the bitterness and rage of indigenous Americans. And then there's Jim Jarmusch's acid western Dead Man, wherein Depp's dying white man William Blake was befriended by a Native American and sent off to the other side in ceremonial raiments. At times, The Lone Ranger plays like William Blake's final fever dream in the canoe carrying him across the river of ghosts, only here he imagines himself as the Native American who saves a white man. Depp's Tonto is weird and unstable, driven mad by the genocidal treachery of white men. I would place Tonto as the missing link between William Blake and Raphael from The Brave. It's not the goofball redface-Jack-Sparrow turn the ads lead you to expect; the performance has the derangement of pain in it.

The official plot motor has John Reid and Tonto teaming up to capture the evil Butch Cavendish (William Fichtner in a performance of supreme scurviness), but just nabbing him doesn't get the job done; the tendrils of corruption that animate Butch reach deeply out from the "values" on which America was founded (along with a thick layer of non-white bones). You can't just shoot this bad guy: there's a whole government/nascent-corporate apparatus backing him up. Against this, Reid and Tonto are obliged to obscure their faces and charge forward. By the way, this is all related to us in flashback by the old and decrepit Tonto, as in Little Big Man, and the film tries on costumes from what must be dozens of other westerns. It's an epic western amusement-park ride, though "amusement" isn't quite the word — bemusement, maybe?

"The Noble Savage," reads the condescendingly oxymoronic banner underneath the old, posing Tonto (it's 1933), and The Lone Ranger puts the lie to both words while redefining most every white man on the screen as an ignoble savage. I don't mean to harp so much on the political message of what's essentially an escapist summer blow-out, but there is more under the hood here than the media wants to talk about (mostly the angle is how much it cost and how poorly it did over the holiday frame). There is probably a valid reading of the film as klutzy white-guilt self-congratulation: See, at least one white man joined forces with the insulted and injured against the behemoth of Manifest Destiny. Despite his best efforts, though, an entire Comanche tribe gets mowed down by America's great new innovation, the Gatling gun. Since few ticket-buyers were up for this Fourth of July history lesson, there will be no Lone Ranger 2 in which Reid and Tonto continue their fight against injustice. For that, I gather, we must look to superhero franchises for the foreseeable future.

offer a discussion on its historical context or significance. This month's selection is Inherit the Wind. Directed and produced by Stanley Kramer, it features the tremendous talents of two double-Oscar winners, Spencer Tracy and Frederic March, in their only film together.

This 1960 film, based on the play of the same name, is a fictionalized account of the 1925 Scopes "Monkey" Trial, in which a Tennessee high school teacher was convicted for teaching Charles Darwin's theory of evolution to his science class. The film's characters correspond to the historical figures of William Jennings Bryan, Clarence Darrow, John T. Scopes and H. L. Mencken. Also featuring Gene Kelly, Harry Morgan and Dick York, Inherit the Wind received four Academy Award nominations.

Classic Film Friday presentations are held at the Marion Music Hall (164 Front Street) and are offered free of charge to the public. Films begin at 7:00 pm, and refreshments are available. For more information, contact the SHS at 508-748-1116.

Bubbleology with Keith Michael Johnson on July 16 at 1:00 pm has had such a wonderful response that the Mattapoisett Library is moving the location of the program to the Mattapoisett Congregational Church Hall. This larger room will be perfect, rain or shine, for The Secret World of Bubbles, packed with state-of-the-art bubble sculptures. The science behind the magic of bubbles makes Keith Johnson's presentation "both educational and unforgettable." Watch as Keith encases a dinosaur and then a child from the audience in a gigantic bubble! He makes the Eiffel Tower, filled with fog! Thanks to the Friends of the Mattapoisett Library, this fun-filled program will be free and open to all. The church hall is located at 27 Church Street in Mattapoisett.

SALOME'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Before you adventurous Arians charge right into those new projects, take a little time to learn where you'll be going so you can avoid getting lost before you get there.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Your time is devoted to career demands through much of the week. But Venus, who rules your sign, might be planning how (and with whom) you'll spend your weekend.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Don't be put off by the surprising turn in the way your project is developing. You've invested enough time in it to know how to make all the necessary adjustments.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) The work week goes smoothly for the most part. But a weekend visit to a place in your past could hold surprises for your future, especially where romance is involved.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) A sudden attack of shyness for the usually loquacious Lion could be a sign that deep down you're not sure enough about what (or whom) you had planned to talk up in public.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Deal with that job-related problem on-site -- that is, at the workplace. Avoid taking it home, where it can spoil those important personal plans you've made.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) It's a good time to let those favorable comments about your business dealings be known to those in a position to be helpful. Don't hide your light; let it shine.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Avoid added pressure to finish a project on deadline by steering clear of distractions. To put it somewhat poetically: Time for fun -- when your tasks are done.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You might be uneasy about an offer from a longtime colleague. But before you reject it, study it. You might be surprised at what it actually contains.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Deal firmly with a difficult family matter. It's your strength they need right now. You can show your emotions when the situation begins to ease up.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A recent dispute with some co-workers might not have been completely resolved. But other colleagues will be only too happy to offer support of your actions.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Let go of that Piscean pride long enough to allow someone to help you with a surprising development. That could make it easier for you to adjust to the change.

BORN THIS WEEK: Your willingness to open up to possibilities is why people like you are often among our most popular political leaders.

Rochester Historical Society News

The Rochester Historical Society will hold an Ice Cream Social on July 17 at 7:00 pm at the East Rochester Church/Museum, 555 County Road. The highlight of the evening will be music by the gospel group Know Greater Love, featuring Sheila and Tom Perry and Carol Ann Silvia. All are welcome.

ORR's Irving Berlin Revue

The Old Rochester Regional High School Drama Club is at it again. It's time for their Alumni Involved Summer Show! What are they doing, you may ask? Another first! Under the direction of Paul Sardinha, with costumes by Helen Blake, sound by John Farrell, and music conducting by Michael Amaral, the Drama Club will present an "Irving Berlin Revue."

The show will feature alumni from years past along with current students. This revue will showcase 44 of Berlin's 1,200 songs with such favorites as "Puttin' on the Ritz," "Alexander's Ragtime Band," "You're Just in Love, How Deep is the Ocean," "God Bless America," and many, many more! A musical revue of this kind has never been done before at a high school, and the kids love learning the "oldies but goodies" and can't wait to present an "Irving Berlin Revue."

The performance will take place at the Gilbert D. Bristol Auditorium in Mattapoissett August 1, 2 and 3 at 7:30 pm, and August 4 at 2:00 pm. Ticket prices are $12 for students and senior citizens and $15 for the general

Welcome

- If you are alienated or upset, we welcome you lovingly.
- If you are in need of forgiveness, Jesus forgives you completely—with unconditional love.
- If you have been hurt by the Church, we are truly sorry.
- If you are angry, Jesus offers you peace.
- If life has become burdensome, we are here to support you.
- We are happy you are here and want you to stay.
- We would like to share our lives with you.
- Come join us each week so we can worship together.

"Art of Knots"

The Mattapoisett Historical Society will open for the season on July 5 at 1:00 pm. This summer, the Mattapoisett Historical Society will explore "The Art of Knots" in a special summer exhibit featuring nautical knot work inspired by Clifford Ashley's The Ashley Book of Knots. The exhibit will also explore the "feminine" side of knots with beautiful examples of lace, crochet and bead work. The permanent exhibits feature artifacts from Mattapoisett's whaling days, fine furniture, antique toys and artifacts from Mattapoisett's agricultural past. The museum is open Wednesday through Saturday from 1:00 to 4:00 pm. Admission is free for members and guests. All others are $3 for adults and $1 for children 3-12.

New this summer, the Historical Society will also be offering a Walking Tour of the Waterfront every first and third Saturday of the month. The tour will leave at 2:00 pm from the Mattapoisett Historical Society and will explore our town and its role in building the whalers for Nantucket and New Bedford. Explore the waterfront streets and wharves where the action took place. The tour is free with museum admission.

Be sure to visit the museum this summer to enjoy the often overlooked intricate art of knot tying.

Marion Concert Band's Friday Series

On July 12, the Marion Concert Band will open its Friday evening concert series with a program featuring music from movies and TV shows. The program, which includes soundtrack music from some major motion pictures, is as follows: "Thundercrest March" - E. Osterling; "Manatee Lyric Overture" - R. Sheldon; "The Sounds of Hollywood" - J. Higgins; "Star Trek Through the Years" - J. Moss; "Raiders of the Lost Ark Medley" - J. Williams; "Prime Time Toon Revue" - arr. T. Ricketts; "Florentiner March" - J. Fucik; "Batman Theme" - N. Hefti; "Pirates of the Caribbean Symphonic Suite" - K. Badelt; "The Blues Brothers Revue" - arr. J. Bocook; "Hooray for Hollywood" - arr. W. Barker; and "The Trombone King" - K. L. King.

The concert will be held at the Robert Broomhead Bandstand, Island Wharf, off of Front Street in Marion. The program, under the direction of Tobias Monte, will begin at 7:30 pm. All concerts are free and open to the public.

Gardens by the Sea

A tour of beautiful Marion gardens, sponsored by St. Gabriel's Episcopal Church, will take place July 12 from 10:30 am to 4:30 pm. Included is a luncheon at a private club. Profits go to global and local outreach programs. Tickets for lunch and tour must be purchased by July 9. Cost is $40. "Tour only" tickets are $20 each. Tickets may be purchased by mail with Payment to: Ruth Bolton, 3 Rosemary Lane, Unit B, Wareham, MA, 02571. Please make out your checks to: St. Gabriel's Garden Tour.

Mattapoisett Public Library Book Sale

The Friends of the Mattapoisett Library's Annual Book Sale will start off with a Members-Only Preview July 17 from 6:00 to 8:00 pm, and continue on July 18 and 19 from 10:00 am until 5:00 pm and on July 20 from 10:00 am until 4:00 pm. The sale will be held in the downstairs meeting room of the Mattapoisett Free Public Library, 7 Barstow Street. New members can join at the preview or any time during the sale, and current members can renew their membership, as well. It's a great time to catch those titles you've been meaning to read and to support your library. The Friends of the Mattapoisett Library is a nonprofit, 501(c)3 corporation that serves the library's needs. We provide a number of museum passes annually; support the summer Children's Programs, and others by request; and serve to provide the library and its staff with wants and needs as they arise. Our funding comes from our membership fees, our monthly and annual book sales, and our jewelry and accessories sales.

LEARN TO SWIM AT HOME

Backyard Pool Program

Ages 3+

This unique program is taught by experienced swim instructors who will travel to area homes. Teaching and improving swim skills and learning valuable water safety skills are the goals of this program. All instructors are certified lifeguards who maintain standard First Aid and CPR.

Each session will include eight 30 minute classes. Flexible class days and times are available 9 am - 5:30 pm. Class registration requires at least three paying participants per pool. A maximum of six students will be allowed for ages 3-5, and eight students for ages 6 and up. Class fee is based on the number of students registered for the class and range from $80-$130 per swimmer.

Contact: Tara Pacheco tpacheco@ymcasouthcoast.org or 508.997.0734 x124 for program & pricing information.

young at heart, the Fair will offer Truck and Tractor Pulling, Horseshoe Contest and Live Wrestling featuring WWE Hall of Famer Jimmy "Superfly" Snuka!

Admission to the Fair is $4 on Thursday and $5 on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Children age 5 and under get in free. There is no fee for parking. Additional event information can be obtained on the Fair's website www.rochesterma.com.

Taste of the Town

Stay cool under the big tent at Shipyard Park and sample delicious offerings at the Mattapoissett Women's Club 10th Annual Taste of the Town.

The tent located on Buzzards Bay captures refreshing salt breezes that mingle with the sweet odor of strawberry bisque, enticing quahog chowder and more as Mattapoissett's finest dining establishments always offer their signature dishes that are sure to get you hooked.

Menu samplings include cold soups that tantalize the palate, flavorful lobster rolls and shrimp with a zesty cocktail sauce – a vast culinary landscape.

A family-style atmosphere draws the entire town and beyond in support of the club's mission of education through scholarship fundraising. Money raised stays in the community.

Ample parking is available, and for sailors, anchorage is available in the harbor.

Taste of the Town is a rain or shine event to be held July 16, 5:00 pm to 7:00 pm at Shipyard Park. Entertainment provided by the Showstoppers.

Tri-Town Basketball Camp

The 2013 Tri-Town Basketball Camp, under the direction of Coach Rick Regan, will be held again this summer at the Old Rochester Regional High School gymnasium. The camp is for boys and girls in grades four through nine. This is the 17th year the Tri-Town Basketball Camp has been under the direction of Coach Regan. Over the last 20 years, he has coached at both Old Rochester Regional Senior and Junior High School, as well as AAU for different levels of boys and girls.

The first session is for boys and will be held from be on display during the opening and will be part of the exhibitions as long as the arrangements last. Members of the Marion Garden Group have presented Art in Bloom every year for many years. Gallery goers are always delighted by the many ways the paintings are interpreted: sometimes dramatic, sometimes humorous, and always worth a second look!

Marion artist Mary Jane McCoy will be exhibiting her acrylic and oil paintings in the Cecil Clark Davis Gallery, and New York artist Arthur Kvarnstrom will be exhibiting his plein air watercolors in the Patsy Francis Gallery.

The Marion Art Center Gallery is open Tuesday through Friday from 1:00 pm to 5:00 pm, and on Saturdays from 10:00 am until 2:00 pm. Admission is free and open to the public.

A POWERFUL PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT
 Holy Spirit, you who solve all problems, who light all roads so I can attain my goals, you who give me the divine gifts to forgive and forget all evil against me, in this short prayer, to thank you for all things and confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you, even in spite of all material illusions. I wish to be with you in eternal glory, thank you for your mercy towards me and mine. The person must say this prayer for three consecutive days. After three days, the favor requested will be granted, even if it may appear difficult. This prayer must be published immediately after the favor is granted without mentioning the favor. Only your initials shall appear at the bottom. P.L.

Marion Town Party Date Set

The Marion Recreation Department, in conjunction with the Marion Firefighters Association, once again is proud to announce the date for the Marion Town Party. The event will be held on August 24 (rain date, August 25). The party will take place at its traditional location on Spring Street in front of the Marion Town House. Festivities will begin at 4:00 pm.

A cherished Marion community tradition, this year's event will feature a climbing rock wall, bubble bounce, dunk tank, music, bake sale, bonfire and more.
Seasonal menu items and beverages are planned.
Admission will be free.

Proceeds will be distributed between the Marion Firefighters Association and Marion Recreation to benefit local community needs. Marion Firefighters plan to use proceeds to provide new thermal imaging equipment for the Marion Fire Department, while Marion Recreation plans to use funds for the construction of playground facilities at Washburn Park.

Organizers are seeking donations from the community to help underwrite the event. Food, raffle prizes, services, bake sale items, cash or any other in-kind donation would be greatly appreciated. All contributions are tax deductible.

Please plan to attend with your friends and family to help make this community event a success.

For further information, or to make a donation, please contact: Steve Gonsalves at 508-264-5852; Chris

Florence Eastman Clam Boil

Join the Florence Eastman Post 280 American Legion on July 13, 5:00 to 6:30 pm, for a Clam Boil under the tent at Shipyard Park (venue courtesy of the Mattapoisett Lions Club). The $25 admission (tickets in advance, limited at the door) includes special chowder, two pounds of clams, stuffing, sweet corn, onion, potato, sausage and linguica, with proceeds to support the Post 280 furnace replacement.

Want to sponsor a boil for a shut-in? Ask how.

I Found the Aardvark!

Each week, hidden somewhere in the pages of The Wanderer is a tiny drawing of an aardvark. The little guy you are looking for looks exactly like the one pictured above (but don't put down this page as your answer; there's another one hidden somewhere in this issue).

Once you find the aardvark you can submit your answer online and if you are right you will get Aardvark Points! You can then use these points to get cool Aardvark Prizes!

To enter visit: www.wanderer.com and Click on I Found the Aardvark
In the July 4, 2013 issue the Aardvark was on page 4!
